

BIG CLOUD BURST WRECKS ROADS TO THE PECOS

F. B. Cohwentker, Forced to Make Trip to Glorieta on Horseback, Says Trails are in Ruins.

F. B. Cohwentker returned to Albuquerque last night from the Upper Pecos, where he went in his automobile to Glorieta yesterday afternoon on horseback, the trip having been blocked or washed out by a cloud-burst which deluged the whole of the summer playground section. Mr. Cohwentker left for the Pecos this morning. He says he does not know when he and Harry P. Lee, who accompanied him, will be able to get it in automobiles out. He says a number of other Albuquerque automobile parties have met with trouble.

"The roads over the whole of the resort section are in ruins," said Mr. Cohwentker this morning. "The roads either are filled with boulders and landslides or are washed out so badly that travel by automobile is impossible. I was forced to come out on horseback yesterday afternoon, following the rain, which really was a cloudburst. I passed Benson Newell and his family ten miles this side of Windsor's and fear they will never be able to make their way in. It is probable other automobile parties on their way into the mountains will have met with trouble. The rain was the heaviest known for some years in the Pecos country, turning into a heavy snow in the higher peaks."

JUDGMENT THAT DISPLEASES BOTH SIDES IS ENTERED

Judgment was entered today in the consolidated case of Isaac Barth against the Santa Fe and the Santa Fe against Isaac Barth. The latter is awarded $494 and the railroad $119. The case grew out of a shipment of sheep that went astray. Senator Barth sued for damages and the railroad filed the freight bill as an offset. Both sides asked for a new trial, which was denied.

The Rio Grande company has started suit against E. Romero and R. Romero and the firm of Romero & Son for $158 alleged to be due on an account contracted with the McIntosh Hardware company. The Whitney company has sued the Romero for $126 on an account for goods alleged to have been sold them. Laurence F. Lee, attorney for the plaintiff in both cases.

R. W. HARDY'S HOME VISITED BY FIRE

Fire started by a defective stove pipe caused a loss of about $100 at the residence of R. W. Hardy, 602 South High street, this afternoon. The building was damaged to the extent of about $15, the balance of the loss falling on the contents. The house is owned by J. D. Emmons.

County Clerk A. E. Walker issued a marriage license today to Aurora Garcia and Ricardo Anaya. Edward Hart, well known merchant of Gallup, returned home on the California limited this morning after a brief visit here. Herman Schweizer of the Harvey system returned last night from a business trip to San Diego.

WILL STAGE FIGHT IF CONDITIONS WARRANT IT

If Deming Looks Like Good Scene During Encampment Levy Will Send Torres Against Gage or Chavez

If conditions seem propitious Jack Torres will show the soldier boys, professional and amateur, some action at Deming. The combined state and United States army encampment will open at Deming next week, and tonight Director Mark Levy of the New Mexico A. C., who manages Torres, will go down to look the situation over. If it looks as if Deming during the encampment time would be a good place to stage a star card, he will lose no time in preparing to put one on.

The stellar bout would be between Torres and Frankie Gage, providing Gage wants to take on Levy's tough scraper. If Gage doesn't want the meeting, Manager Levy may put Benny Chaves up against Torres. Either Gage or Chaves would give Torres a rattling fight, and the fans would see a mill that would live in their memories. Preliminary to the main bout, of course, would be a select array of hardworking and hard-milling talent.

MORTUARY.

Augustus C. Paul, honorably discharged from the United States army and until recently a patient at the military hospital at Fort Bayard, died at his home here at noon today. A wife who lives in New York survives. The remains are at the French undertaking rooms, pending advice from the wife, who has been notified.

TODAY'S LIVE NEWS OF SUNSHINE STATE

ANDREWS SETS FIVE DELEGATES FROM EDDY COUNTY

Expected Line up for the Bull Takes Place as per Schedule. Williams Overlooked in Entorsement.

(Special Dispatch to The Herald.) Carlsbad, N. M., July 7.—As had been expected the Eddy county Republican convention yesterday endorsed W. H. Andrews for the Republican nomination for congress, and instructed the five delegates from this county to the state convention to vote for him. Andrews ever since he first appeared in New Mexico politics has had a strange hold on the Republican party in Eddy county; a party which is not difficult to strange, since it is not over-large or very robust. The ex-delegate's oil prospecting here and his presence in the county for much of the time during the past few months served to overcome any opposition there might have been to him. The Eddy county convention is the first Republican county convention and was held early on instructions from headquarters, so that Andrews would get first blood in the fight for the nomination, even though it is but a small drop of blood in the convention bucket.

Comment has been caused here because of the lack of reference to Hugh Williams as a candidate for the corporation commission. The convention adopted resolutions endorsing the work of the state corporation commission, but made no reference to Williams' candidacy. Ordinarily such an endorsement might have been looked for, but M. S. Groves, the Republican county chairman, is also chairman of the corporation commission, and Mr. Williams' Republican colleague on the commission and the lack of any reference to Williams' candidacy is looked on as indicating a lack of enthusiasm for the Williams candidacy in these parts. Among the Republican bosses, especially since it was announced that Williams resigned the chairmanship of the commission in favor of Groves, in order to make the race for the Republican nomination.

The resolutions adopted by the gathering were as follows:

"Be it resolved, that the Republicans of Eddy county in convention assembled, reaffirm their allegiance to the principles of the Republican party. Be it further

"Resolved, that the delegates to the Republican state convention, to be held in Santa Fe August 24, 1914, be and are hereby instructed to cast the vote of Eddy county as a unit for William H. Andrews as the nominee of the Republican party for congress from New Mexico. Be it further

"Resolved, that the Republicans of Eddy county are proud of the record that William H. Andrews made as a delegate in congress from New Mexico; that he accorded the humblest citizen the most considerate attention; that he rendered the country valuable service throughout; that he gave close attention to the great industries of Eddy county; that he promoted the welfare of New Mexico at all times; that he was largely instrumental in obtaining statehood and that being fully in touch with national affairs he is today the best qualified representative that New Mexico can send to congress. Be it further

"Resolved, that we recognize the valuable service rendered the state of New Mexico by the corporation commission; that we heartily endorse their action for better freight and express rates; and that we commend the commission for fairness and efficiency. Be it further

"Resolved, that we favor a comprehensive road system for Eddy county; that we favor ourselves to support early action on an Eddy county road system."

The only interest in the convention in this county now, as always, was in the standing of the delegation in the state convention, since no effort toward Republican success is made in this stalwart Democratic district.

PORTER HEARING AT ALAMOGORDO TOMORROW

Man Charged with Being Party to Murder of Ralph S. Connell to be Given Preliminary Examination.

(Special Dispatch to Evening Herald.) Alamogordo, N. M., July 7.—The preliminary hearing of J. W. Porter, charged with complicity in the assassination of Ralph S. Connell near Tularosa, will be held here tomorrow. Held and Harvey of Roswell have been retained to assist District Attorney Hamilton in the prosecution, and H. B. Holt of Las Cruces and Tom Lea of El Paso appear for Porter. There is intense interest in the hearing.

CLAFIN FAILURE HAS NO EFFECT ON WOOL MARKET

Volume of Trading Smaller Last Week in Boston Market But Little Evidence of Disturbance.

The Boston commercial bulletin reviewing last week's Boston wool trade, says in part:

Contrary to expectations, the wool market has shown less perturbation over the Clafin failure than was apprehended a week ago. Some business was done, perhaps at a slight concession in consequence of the suspension but the underlying needs of the market have prevented any slump and sales have been made at quite as full rates as were prevalent previous to the news of the failure.

The volume of business done in the market has been decidedly smaller than in the week previous, many houses reporting a quiet week, but there has been a fair quantity of wool sold and more particularly in the last two or three days. Particularly has there been an inquiry for territory half-blood, and three-eighths wools and sales of these wools have been made to be graded. There have also been further sales of original wool, including some Montana clips to arrive.

Much of the buying that is being done at the moment is undoubtedly for immediate needs to cover orders and the trade would not be surprised to see less active business when these pressing needs are taken care of. This seems to be all the more likely to occur as the higher price wools come to the market for sale. The early bought wools which have been sold have shown fair profits and manufacturers have been able to take these wools at the prices ruling of late, but whether they will immediately show the same interest on a higher level of prices remains to be seen. It is sufficient to say that the market at the moment is healthy and firm.

Sales of domestic are largely of original wool still, although there is more graded wool being sold and during the past week fairly good sales are reported.

DELEGATION FROM SANTA FE HALTED AT PECOS RIVER

Stream on Rampage and Motorcade to Raton Forced to Turn Back. Northern New Mexico Sea of Mud.

(Special Dispatch to The Herald.) Santa Fe, N. M., July 7.—A motorcade of five cars headed for Raton and carrying delegates to the state retailers' convention, left here hopefully this morning bright and early. At the Pecos river they turned back, discouraged by the appearance of the river and by assurances from travelers and telephone messages that roads between Las Vegas and Raton practically were impassable because of recent heavy rains. Northern New Mexico is reported to be a sea of mud and the delegates turned back home and will leave for the convention tonight by train.

High praise was given the work done by the state highway commission on Glorieta hill. While the roads elsewhere are almost impassable, this road, built scientifically, practically has been untouched by the almost unparalleled rainfall in the mountains during the past few days.

Fish for New Mexico Streams. A United States fisheries car arrived here today loaded with fish for distribution through the streams of central, southern and eastern New Mexico.

JEMEZ COUNTRY IS ONE GREAT GARDEN

Albuquerque Man Back From Fishing Trip, Says Mountain Region's Grazing Resources Unlimited.

Dr. C. H. Carnes, W. C. Heacock, Harry R. Cornell and Dr. Thruslow have returned from a fishing trip in the Jemez mountains, where they have been hooking the little speckled fellows for which the Savoy is famous.

"The Jemez country this season is one great garden," said Dr. Carnes this morning. "I have never seen it so beautiful or in such splendid condition. It would provide abundant range for ten times the grazing now put on it, without the slightest danger of overgrazing, and there is little danger of overstocking there, at least until better transportation is provided into the district. The grass stands knee high all over the upper reaches of the mountain range and all through the Jemez forest reserve. It is simply an ideal vacation ground. The fish are not large but they are luscious and make up in flavor and gameness what they lack in size. Game also is plentiful in the higher sections. We stumbled onto one bear, wholly by accident, and not being armed we and the bear
